All round this table here
We tell this sacred story
Our lips can barely speak
Of some eternal glory
And still we gather round
With saints and angels dimly
All will be welcomed here
Let go of fear and worry

Christ has died, Christ is...ris'n again
Christ has died, Christ is...ris'n again

We walk down dusty roads
We grieve our missing brother
Alone and so confused
We hold on to each other
But still that stranger comes
Our hearts burn deep within us
Again this simple meal
Reminds us of another

Faith is the hope of things
We cannot see or measure
The step in trust we take
The love of good we treasure
In love we dare to dream
All will not be forgotten
Each day we choose for life
Each day we touch forever
