What's happening this month?

Our Massive Yarn Stash was Seriously Diminished last month thanks to all our generous knitters. Just look at what is heading off to KOGO—photos next page.

So this month there will be more click-clack of knitting needles producing warm items to send off to KOGO to support needy families.

There's an option of making RED fingerless gloves for Love Makes a Way groups who respectfully campaign in public places for the rights of Asylum Seekers. Several Olive Pesto folk participated in silent vigils in the CBD this week (see below)

Linda's Travels

I recently travelled to Sarawak. I accompanied my husband who was a keynote speaker at a conference. Sarawak was such fun. When waiting at airports I would bring out my knitting. Little children would come across and stare at me, having never seen yarn knitting. Conversations with their mums and grandmas using Google translate, ended up in laughter as I explained that my ancestors were from the north of England, from Scotland, where it's very cold and not very colourful. Hence the wool from sheep and the dark blue yarn. And, did you know there is not a Bahasa word for "lamb"? It is just "little sheep". We learnt that by following the English-Bahasa order of service at the Anglican Cathedral in Kuching last Sunday. ## Exhibition

We're excited to announce that following on from the highly successful and very enjoyable 2017 'What is Creativity?' Exhibition Brunswick Uniting Olive Arts group will be hosting another exhibition from 20-30 September. Our first exhibition featured the works of more than 40 artists and was a truly amazing experience. Further details will be available in the next few months and how you can be involved .
