

Jean Elliot's story

Lighting a candle for worship, 20th September 2020

This candle is a symbol of the faith, unity and friendship of the people who make up the body of this church. I look forward to the time when our congregation is all together again, supporting each other and sharing the warmth and light that this candle represents.

My daughter Rosie and I moved into our home a year ago. Each of the nine houses in the complex have a fence around them which allows for privacy. Inside the fence the ground was paved with nothing else there. We took a lot of the paving out and brought in a lot of dirt. Then over the year we have spent a lot of money on plants.

My father was a market gardener and florist so I grew up among flowers and they are important to me. Our garden is very pretty now and a creation of which we are quite proud. Rosie suggested that I light the candle outside in this beautiful space that we love.

20-9-20

Story written by Saide Cameron